IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR TOW VEHICLE

Every tow vehicle is built and designed differently by each manufacturer. It is important to know it's capabilities. The best resources for accurate information are supplied with your vehicle owner's manual and on the decal posted on the driver side door post or in the glove box. Vehicle dealers also have separate towing guides available to assist you when determining it's capabilities. This information can change every model year. Also, understand that there are limitations as to what your vehicle can tow safely. The following ratings definitions are important to understand:

GVWR (Gross Vehicle Weight Rating) is the maximum allowable total load weight (vehicle and all cargo including fuel, passengers, etc.) as set by the manufacturer.

GAWR (Gross Axle Weight Rating) is the maximum allowable load carrying capacity of each individual axle as set by the manufacturer.

CGVWR (Combined Gross Vehicle Weight Rating) is the maximum allowable combined weight of the loaded vehicle and loaded trailer that is being towed. Do not exceed this weight at any time.

As each vehicle will weigh differently based on options, we recommend that you have it weighed at a commercial weigh scale with fuel tank(s) full and occupants in the vehicle. Subtract this weight from the GVWR to determine your vehicle's cargo carrying capacity. This weight should not be exceeded by your trailer when it is loaded for camping. The GVWR of your tow vehicle cannot be changed by adding airbags, helper springs, heavier shocks, etc., however these items will help to stabilize the load for safer handling while driving. West Coast Leisure Homes Ltd. does not make any warranties or representations, express or implied, as to the capabilities, uses, or ratings of your tow vehicle.

West Coast Leisure Home's Transferable 3-year Structural Warranty (the first in Canada) backs up our commitment to our customers and belief in our product.

All Okanagan Campers meet or exceed CSA and RVIA standards.
